

Our neighbor Kathryn Cunningham, who grew up in Chadds Ford, is one of the semifinalists for the Do Something Award. This is part of the Teen Choice awards, for young people who try to help the world.

Kathryn volunteered at a hospital in The Gambia, West Africa, and was shocked at the suffering she saw due to lack of power. So she came home and started a non-profit called “Power Up Gambia” to provide solar power to the hospital. For more information, see www.powerupgambia.org.
